

Community Council Discusses Financing

Thursday evening, following the Lions' Club meeting, the executive of the Community Club gathered when they discussed some practical and workable plans for future transactions.

President K. Baldwin presided, and explained at the outset that he had been bombarded by many during the day on the question of both a Community Council and Board of Trade working successfully in a small town.

Mr. Baldwin answered this query in a very clear and convincing statement. He said it was his strong conviction that while a Community Council was organized to promote the cultural, social and sporting activities of the Town, the function of a Board of Trade is to stimulate the business activities and promote industrial centres on the locality, and to bring together all peoples in the community, rural and urban, to the greater benefit of all connected.

Much discussion re the best methods to adopt in carrying through the various activities and sports for the summer followed.

A slate of officers was drawn up and Mrs. Kennedy and Rev. D. Ford were appointed a committee to contact persons named and submit their report at the next meeting.

Mr. Baldwin reported on the work covered at the Swimming Pool Instruction Camp in Edmonton, at which a pretty strenuous course is given.

It was felt that Miss E. L. Baldwin will prove a valuable assistant for the junior group this summer.

A further meeting was called for Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Sunday afternoon a very representative group was present at a meeting following up the Thursday evening discussion of the Community Council. President Baldwin presided.

Representatives from each group were present. A keen interest in the general financial plan best suited to carry the various organizations was discussed pro and con.

A genuine community spirit existed, however it seemed difficult to finally decide and another meeting was called for.

A suggestion was made that each at the last board meeting, on road conditions and the resulting school attendance during the months of February and March. It was noted that the school attendance was low for these months. It was realized, however, that this was only to be expected in view of the extreme road conditions which continued during this period. The Board recognized and greatly appreciated the efforts made by the municipality in snow-plowing and clearing roads in order that to make any possible might operate during this period. High Praise For Potatoes

Extremely high commendation for the potatoes in the root cellar was offered on Wednesday morning, by Mr. Stogerson, assistant inspector for Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C. Mr. Stogerson was conferring with R. J. Milligan, and inspecting the root cellar and the potatoes at the time. He could not remember having seen better potatoes, he stated, and suggested that this area had everything necessary to the growing of excellent potatoes.

One hundred and fifteen units of Alberta certified seed potatoes were shipped last fall to Ocean Falls, in a seed testing experiment. Out of all the potatoes tested, Alberta's came through with the highest colours, producing not one blemish all through.

As a result, fourteen carloads of Alberta certified seed potatoes were shipped to the United States, and a further market could have been found for seventy-five more carloads if they had been available.

Mr. W. E. Barron is expected home this week from Toronto, accompanied by her son John.

SOMETHING IN RECORDS

Comment is widespread this week over two events which are somewhat noteworthy, the attainment of their silver wedding anniversary by Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, and the succession of Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, to the position of being the statesman who has held office longer than any other in the British Empire.

Comment is merited in the first instance, we believe, because twenty-fifth anniversaries are indications of something in the nature of stability, and anything in this line is worthy of comment these days. It is becoming less and less usual throughout the institution of marriage as a whole, according to figures, and enduring kingship is, apparently, even more unusual.

Comment is merited in the case of Mr. King because he has surpassed a record of service which has stood for over two centuries. It was established by Sir Robert Walpole, who ran up very nearly twenty-one years as leader of the government of Great Britain.

Mr. King's influence on the affairs of Canada over the past quarter of a century can hardly be estimated at this time. It is probable that it will not be until years have passed that we shall see the full import of the policies launched under his direction. Suffice it to say that the voters of Canada have felt over the years that Mr. King had no equal, nor indeed, any opposition.

THE WEST PAYS THE FREIGHT

An editorial in the Brooks Bulletin

The Board of Transport Commissioners has granted the railways an increase of 21 percent in freight rates. This will apply to almost everything carried by the roads except grain. The increase will mean about $70 millions more a year in the way of freight costs. Western Canada will pay most of that increase. The West always pays the freight. It pays on the products it ships out and it pays on the goods it ships in.

Cheap transportation is the main factor in encouraging the development of a new country. The west has been unfortunate in that respect. The prairies provide a natural monopoly for the railroads. We have no great navigable rivers like the Mississippi, the St. Lawrence, the Amazon, the Rhine, the Danube, the Volga and the Nile. We are at the mercy of the railroads.

Railway rates are lower in Eastern Canada than in the West. This is due to the competition of lake and river shipping, motor trucks and competitive lines. To illustrate we cite but two examples of scores that could be listed.

From Vernon, B.C. Calgary is 354 miles and it costs $1.04 per 100 pounds of fruit shipped.

From Oakville, Ontario, to Montreal is 356 miles and it costs 45 cents per 100 pounds of fruit shipped.

From Windsor, Ontario to Winnipeg it costs $92.50 for freight on a certain make of auto.

From Windsor to Halifax, (about the same distance) the cost is $50.

The railways make twice the profit out of operating in Western Canada than they do in Eastern Canada. From 1907 to 1945 the Canadian Pacific Railway made a profit of $361 millions in the East and $753 millions in the West. It should be noted too, that the freight traffic is denser in the East than in the West and the hauls there are shorter than the hauls in the West. Furthermore, railways construction costs were lower in the West and the flat prairie lands make operations costs lower here.

Eastern Canada did not oppose the application for increased freight rates. Why should the Easterners do so? It is no 'skin off their backs'. In fact it helps out business there for more money will pour into the head offices of the railways in the East. Farmers will be interested to know that organized labor did not come to their aid either. In fact one labor leader said he thought the rates should go up to 30 percent, as the railways requested in the first instance. The annual railway labor bill has been increased by about $220 million a year, above the 1939 total.

The worst feature is that once the new rates are established, they will never come down. Such rates do not move up and down like the price of grain, and other farm products. It will cost as much to ship cattle if the price goes down to 5 cents a pound as it does at a price of 15 cents.

There was no increase granted on the transportation of grain. That fact is being trumpeted. But grain rates are established by law, under the Crownst Pass Agreement, and cannot be changed unless by parliamentary action. Any government which tampers with the Crownst Pass agreement would never elect many members in the prairie provinces.

Just what can be done about this constant exploitation of the West? We do not know the answer! It may come someday in a tornado of protest that will shake the whole basis of confederation. The western bronco will stand for only so many kicks in the ribs!

Others' Words

Letters to 'The Editor

We are reprinting the following "One Man's Opinion" a column written by Richard J. Needham, which appeared in a recent issue of the Calgary Daily Herald. We felt it would be of interest to our readers since Mr. Needham's experience with regard to letters to the editor are similar to those of other editors.

"A gentleman has written The Herald, alleging that the letters we publish in our correspondence columns are not all genuine; some, he maintains, are cooked up by the newspaper office itself. We refuse to publish this gentleman's letter because his statement is incorrect: the wonderful, the terrible thing about the letters appearing in The Herald is that they all come to us unselected from the great outside world.

It is true that, from time to time, we accept a letter written by an employee of the newspaper itself. We submit such letters, of course, voluntarily, and as private individuals. But these are few indeed, perhaps two or three in the course of a year. The last such letter appeared three months ago; it had to do with the trolley bus service on the North Hill, where this particular employee resides.

We do not "plant" letters in The Herald. Why should we? There isn't anything we "want" to have said by a named or unnamed correspondent; anything we "want" to have said, we will say ourselves. In any event, we get so many genuine letters that we are really under no necessity of fabricating them.

But, alas, not all the letters we get are genuine. Some people who write to The Herald make remarkable efforts to deceive us. Here, for example, is a letter on the subject of rooming houses. It is neatly typed; the writer's name is on it; so is his address. But it isn't going to be published. Why not? Because no such address exists; if it did exist, it would be plunk in the middle of the Elbow.

Why would a person send us a letter with a false address, and, quite probably, a false name? Because, we suppose, he is frightened of something or somebody. Possibly his landlady, since the letter is critical of landladies. He thinks she may find out that he wrote the letter which appeared in The Herald over the signature "Barney". He doesn't trust The Herald to conceal his identity—which it does at all times and under all circumstances. Why, then, should The Herald trust him?

Here is another example. Last year, we got a letter claiming that the new tax stores were paying inadequate wages. The letter was accepted for publication, and a routine check was made on the writer's name and address, as given at the foot of the letter. Both, we found, were false; accordingly, the letter never appeared. No doubt, the dunder who wrote it has been going around ever since, claiming The Herald didn't dare to print his communication. Ha!

Here is another. Some days ago, we published a letter from "Hockey Fan", criticizing Alderman Mackay's radio technique. An advertisement for Mr. Mackay was arranged by this letter; he wrote us one lambasting "Hockey Fan". In it, he asked: "What is the matter with that person? Is he or she afraid to sign his or her name?" Unfortunately, the letter criticizing "Hockey Fan" for his alleged timing had no address on it; just a name, and a name which happens to be common in Calgary.

In most cases, we try to track people down, when they put their names on a letter without the address. We are willing to assume that it was an oversight. But when as in the case mentioned above, it is a common one, like Smith or Brown, we refuse to make the effort. (It may be asked why newspapers have to know the name and address of correspondents. That is quite easy; it's because they're legally responsible for everything they publish. An editor would be in a fine fix if he had to admit that he printed a letter without even knowing who wrote it.)

Another odd thing is the number of people who ask: it costs money to have a letter put in the paper. It doesn't, of course; newspapers print letters for free. (1) because a lot of people like to read them and (2) because they see it as their duty to provide a soap-box from which private individuals can address the world at large.

Again, it's curious how many people think a newspaper is morally obliged to print every letter it gets. No newspaper recognizes any such obligation; and certainly not this one. We reject letters for a number of reasons—because they are false, because they are libellous because they are too long, because they are incoherent, because they contain demonstrably false statements, because they deal with a subject that has already been beaten to death.

On the other hand, we never reject (or accept) a letter because of the opinions expressed therein. Communists, Social Creditors, Socialists, Fascists, Ku Kluxers, phobes, uplifters and anti-uplifters all make use of our space. It is amusing, by the way, how many people who profess to loathe and abominate The Herald, and denounce it whenever they get a chance, nevertheless bring us their letters for publication; they expect those letters to be treated fairly, and they are.

But this is all by the way. What we started out to say with tempered indignation is that all the letters which appear on this page are authentic; as authentic as anything can be in this wicked and deceitful world. We could prove this quite easily, but in doing so, we would have to divulge names and addresses which we are pledged never to divulge. So like many other things it must remain a matter of faith. Those who lack faith should read the letters; in fact, they shouldn't even read The Herald. But they do, we have noticed; they do.

Mrs. Percy Wright was delighted by the first snow, and came through without being touched by the frost. Mr. and Mrs. Wright are enjoying a couple of days in Calgary this week.

Excellent Support Given Golf Course

Canvassers for funds to aid in the rehabilitation of the Strathmore Golf Course have received excellent support from the merchants who have been approached so far, it was reported recently by the committee. Donation made so far amount to almost three hundred dollars, a very encouraging figure.

With this amount in hand, the golf club committee feels that it will be possible to go ahead with work necessary to put the course in shape for playing, and will soon be in a position to look for members. Membership was given those merchants who subscribed ten dollars or more to the course in the first appeal.

ONE OF THE FAMILY!

In most families everyone has certain responsibilities—tasks of which they are capable and which they are expected to attend to as a matter of course. Being given such duties is a sort of badge of belonging that's not awarded to visitors and guests.

That's why Reddy Kilowatt feels so much like one of the family. He keeps the washing machine running for the weekly wash... turns the suction fan in the vacuum cleaner when the rug needs cleaning... keeps the refrigerator cold so that food will not be wasted... quickly heats the electric range at meal time... in fact he is busy at dozens of things all day long. Finally when evening comes and every one settles down to read or sew or do homework, Reddy busily lights up the lamps to provide ample illumination for all.

Reddy appreciates being one of your family and we are sure you appreciate him too. He is always on the job and his allowance is the lowest of any in the family.

Reddy Kilowatt is working in many Alberta industries too, helping to make our province more prosperous and progressive in the interests of us all.

STRAITH TEEN TALK

The Hard Times Dance held by the High School on Friday night in the Dining Room at the Memorial Hall was a great success. The room was decorated with newspapers and posters with crates around the walls for chairs, creating the "hard times" atmosphere desired. Around 60 roaring youngsters, all dolled up in their most rugged attire were present, with sparkling smiles and ready wits for a night of fun and frolic. The ingenuity and originality of the costumes caused a great deal of merriment. The dances were many and varied; among them the squat dance, spoon dance, heel toe polka, and many other varieties. Around 10:00 all those in costume paraded around the room with Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Polley and Mr. and Mrs. Korok as judges, and Bruce McKenzie and Doreen Isard were presented with gifts for being best dressed. At 11:00 the H-T girls, who were catering for the night, served a light lunch. A free and easy atmosphere, typical of any high school group prevailed throughout the evening and when the party broke up around 1:00, everyone was ready for bed, with another happy memory to store away, probably to be referred to time and again in adult years as "Those good old high school days" oh fellows!

NIGHTINGALE NOTES

by Mrs. F. H.

Mrs. Frank Harriman is in the General Hospital. She has undergone an operation and is recovering satisfactorily. We all hope to see her at home and well again soon.

The snow is melting rapidly, and what was once a monotonous white plain is now a sea of mud. The roads are very bad, and the W. A. meeting has not been held for five weeks. We hope to meet this Friday but it is highly improbable.

Two bridges at Ardenode have been washed out and the third is going. The water is over the tracks in many places, and consequently the train service has been cancelled on Monday and possibly all this week. We have not had mail service at the time of reporting.

FARMING NEWS

Produced by the Alberta Department of Agriculture

THE IMPORTANCE OF CROP SEQUENCE

Not only do weeds that are companionable with grain, flourish in land sown to grain, especially of the same class, but so do they seriously encourage by wheat, following wheat, and root rots that now have a high incidence on prairie farms are definitely propagated by repeated crops of the same kind of grain. In addition to these factors modern cultural practices tend to reduce the success of wheat after wheat, and in fact, grain after grain. In dry years especially, a satisfactory seed bed is difficult to prepare by surface tillage implements on land that is heavily mulched with combine-thresher straw and stubble. This difficulty, coupled with the weed problem, is persuading more Manitoba farmers each year to practice the simple crop sequence of alternating fallow with grain.

Aside from straight grain sequence corn in place of summer-fallow has not been a profitable practice at the Brandon Farm during the last 25 years, because wheat following corn has averaged eight bushels less per acre than wheat on bare fallow. Sequence trouble even extends to grass within a rotation. Sodland broken later in the season invariably yields a poor crop of grain the next year. Summer-fallow soil has, however, been found profitable in rotation practice.

Summer-fallow, either of stubble or sod land is the best preparation in prairie Canada for annual crops. If, however, annuals must follow each other repeating the same class of crop should be avoided.

Council Talks Zoning, Taxing

Considerable time was spent at Tuesday's Council meeting discussing the merits of using Main Street lots for displaying heavy machinery, and after much argument back and forth, the matter was referred to the legislation committee for further study. The discussion arose following application of Baldwin Motors to lease the lot between Robert's Meat Market and Dr. Giffen's office for display purposes.

The lease was agreed to, and the terms were set, but the whole matter is to come up for review at a later date.

Mr. Miller, the Town's Assessor, was present at the meeting, and discussed at some length the matter of a business tax. Such a tax, Mr. Miller pointed out, could be based on the rental value of the property, on the area occupied, on the assessment, or on the net revenue produced. The first form was probably the easiest method to apply, Mr.

Miller suggested, and the only one more fair is the net revenue method system, which may be implemented throughout the Province in the near future, but which was considered somewhat unwieldy.

Inasmuch as a business tax must be instituted by by-law prior to May 1st, however, it was felt that the tax would have to be left over for this year, since there was sufficient time to study its application in the town. Mr. Miller was asked, nevertheless, to prepare a draft estimate of a business tax based on a rental value system.

Roads through town came in for considerable discussion, and it was agreed that a survey be made with regard to the need for new and renewal culverts. Arrangements will be made to level up the entrance into the laneway behind Bellinger's Hardware, where the drop on both sides is quite steep.

Councillor Chase was appointed a committee to look after the garden lots situation.

Discussion with regard to issuing peddler's licenses was held, a committee appointed to look further into the matter.

The secretary was instructed to write the Attorney General to ascertain what action might be taken with regard to trees over-hanging a neighbouring property and constituting a menace or a nuisance.

Accounts to the amount of $71 were passed.

Just prior to closing the meeting, the Mayor asked Councillors to study the budget for the year, and seek ways in which costs of operating the town might be cut for the ratepayers.

HELP IN CASE OF ACCIDENT

POISONED WOUNDS — From bite of animal — Treat immediately. Wash under running water to remove animal saliva. Have patient lie down and remain quiet. Apply ligature or bandage above wound to prevent spread of poison. With tip of knife or razor blade, sterilized by passing through flame, if possible, cut into wound, a depth of $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch over each fang mark, and let poison out. Apply suction, or if no other means available, suck the wound out by mouth, provided there are no open sores in mouth, and remove as much as possible from it. Be careful not to swallow. Continue suction for about a half hour. Cauterize with nitric acid, chloride of zinc or nitrate of silver, or by applying white hot iron. Give patient stimulants and rush to doctor at once.

BURNS AND SCALDS — Skin unbroken. A paste of baking soda in water; cod-liver, olive or castor oil; or vaseline. Cover with sterile gauze. Where skin is broken, apply wet baking soda, gentian violet jelly, pieric acid gauze, or tannic acid jelly. Keep dressing moist. Chemical burns — wash immediately with large quantity of clean water before applying any other treatment.

FAINTING — Place flat on back, head lower than rest of body, loosen clothing, allow plenty of fresh air and keep warm.

LIGHTNING OR SUN STROKE — Loosen clothing, dash cold water on face, treat for shock. In case of sun stroke, remove to shade. Apply cold water to head.
